Climate Finance Day : How to shift the trillions? A "Climate Week Paris" event

May 22, 2015 – Paris, France
08:45 - 12:30 & 13:45 - 18:15
UNESCO Headquarters

With just a few months to go until the United Nations Climate Change Conference in Paris (COP 21), the question of the trillions of dollars that will be required to limit Global Warming to 2 degrees is more pressing than ever.

How to reduce the financing of a high carbon economy, and conversely, how to encourage green investment?

Financial solutions exist. A growing number of private financial operators throughout the world are getting involved in order to redirect capital towards low-carbon and resilient growth.

On the initiative of the Caisse des Dépôts Group and the European Investment Bank, and organized by Paris EUROPLACE, the Climate Finance Day addresses the specific challenges and issues related to the financial sector's "positive agenda". It will showcase pioneering initiatives, help mobilize the sector and evidence relevant private climate finance solutions, both for developing and developed countries.

The Climate Finance Day will bring together major practitioners to address four main issues:

- "How can institutional investors bring their portfolios into line with 2°C?"
- "Assessing financing and insuring against climate risk"
- "Finance for climate action – Tackling the investment challenge"
- "Innovations for a sustainable financial system: policies, regulations, standards"

Christiana FIGUERES, Executive Secretary of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC), Michel SAPIN, French Minister of Finance and Public Accounts and Gérard MESTRALLET, Chairman of Paris EUROPLACE, Chairman & CEO of GDF SUEZ, will honour us with their presence, as well as the CEOs from numerous financial institutions.
